Heavy fines for rogue landlords

by Dick Townsend-Smith

A ROGUE landlord who left his tenants without hot water or heating has been fined £18,000. And another was ordered to pay £3,201 after renting out rooms to students without a licence.

Both landlords were taken to court by the council as part of its Rogue Landlords scheme, designed to clamp down on private landlords who fail to manage their property safely and responsibly.

Rogue Landlord Number One was Timothy Knight, the sole director of Siteworth Ltd, who let out eight bedsits in a Victorian house in Footscray Road, Eltham. He pleaded guilty, on behalf of his company, at Bexley Magistrates' Court to nine offences of failing to manage the property to satisfactory standards.

The court heard the tenants shared a communal bathroom and toilet. The council's Housing Enforcement team investigated after the town's MP, Clive Efford, reported that tenants had complained to him that four flats had no hot water, bathrooms had mould and rotten window frames, while repairs took many months to get done.

The council team also found other serious breaches of housing management regulations, including inadequate fire safety protection and heating. The property company had tried to pass on its management responsibilities by writing them into the tenancy agreements.

The magistrates fined Knight's company £18,000 and ordered them to pay prosecution costs of £1,600 and a victim surcharge of £120. Some of his former tenants, who had been evicted before the case came to court, were there to see justice done. From October new laws will mean that tenants cannot be served with a notice to quit by their landlord while there

Fine people who dump rubbish on balconies

WHEN is the council going to sort out the dumped rubbish that people leave on balconies. We have no bin chutes or lifts at our flats in Eltham and some people living here are just so lazy and they dump the rubbish by the fire exit doors. Sometimes it's weeks before the rubbish is collected the place gets covered in flies and it smells. I really feel sorry for the caretaker who has to clean up other people's rubbish because they are so lazy to take it down themselves. Also where the bins are on the ground floor people are dumping shopping trolleys, old TVs and chairs and it's weeks before they are removed. Please can the council take action and fine people or even have them evicted.

M Baird, Eltham

● A council spokesperson said: "We share your frustration at residents dumping rubbish in inappropriate areas and urge people to take proper responsibility for disposing of waste and litter. Failure to do so is not only unsightly but also presents a potential health and fire hazard. Arrangements have been made for the area to be regularly inspected by enforcement staff and where the perpetrators can be identified action will be taken. For persistent offenders this may entail proceedings to repossess their home. A letter will be sent to all residents in the block reminding them how their waste should be disposed of."

Thoughtless parking blocks cycle lanes

WHY does the council allow people using the mosque to park their cars in the cycle lane. I'm a very keen cyclist and often cycle to Woolwich. One Saturday I had to leave the safety of the cycle lane and nearly got took out by a bus. The lane was designed for cyclists' safety and not for parking in - this practice should not be allowed. Is it against the law to park in such lanes? Yours a really fed up cyclist.

Tony Richmond

● A council spokesperson said: "We are sorry to hear that thoughtless parking is causing the Plumstead Road cycle lanes to be blocked at times. And we have written to the mosque about this issue. Unfortunately, it is a problem around many of our schools, colleges and other places of worship. We are always working with those places to develop travel plans that encourage their staff and visitors to walk, cycle or use public transport where possible and park considerably if they have to drive. Partnership working is generally the best approach but we will always take enforcement action where it is not."

BEHIND THE BIKE SHED:
Eglinton primary school pupils are keen to cycle to school thanks to their cycle storage facilities

A safer way to store your bike

New cycle parking all around town

CYCLISTS are to get even more access to safe, secure and easy bike storage thanks to brand new bike parking facilities being installed across the royal borough.

Delivered by the council and funded by Transport for London (TfL), the programme sees the installation of new bike parking across council estates, as well as on-street trials of the new facilities. Twenty-four estates have already benefited from secure cycle parking, with another nine estates due to receive new facilities by the end of this month.

The 'Bike hangars' and 'lockers' made from galvanised steel, offer a safe and effective way to lock bikes up and protect them from tough weather conditions, theft and vandalism.

Accessing your bike is easy too and you can rent a space and get a key for a minimal annual cost and just a returnable £20 deposit.

Trials of on-street secure cycle parking facilities have proved popular. The council is looking to extend the scheme and wants to hear from residents interested in getting bike parking in their street.

Pupils in the royal borough are also getting access to new facilities to keep their bikes secure and safe in school. Sixty-six schools currently have secure cycle parking, with 46 of these working with TfL's cycle parking for schools programme to create the storage. So far this year Eglinton, Brooklands and Christ Church Primaries have had new cycle parking facilities installed, with the first two schools also creating some scooter specific parking in response to children using scooters.

Cllr Danny Thorpe, the borough's cabinet member for regeneration and transport said: "We don't want anyone to be put off cycling because they aren't sure where to conveniently and safely store their bikes, so we're making this investment in secure, high quality cycle parking in locations across the borough – and we're always keen to hear from residents if they would like such a facility in their area."

● To find out more about secure bike parking, where the new facilities are located and if you want to request a bikehangar in your area, contact cycling-strategy@royalgreenwich.gov.uk are legal notices requiring emergency work or improvements outstanding. The council team estimated that Knight and his company made around £44,000 a year in rent from the property.

Rogue Landlord Number Two was Maher Hajaj, who denied running a six-bedroom house with student tenants on Greenwich High Road without a licence. He also denied failing to provide information after the council team served a legal notice on him.

Council inspectors found all the students shared bathroom and toilet facilities. They complained to the council team about their living conditions. An inspection found that Hajaj needed to have a licence, and despite letters and phone calls, he did not apply for one. Legal proceedings were then started, and magistrates at Bexley found him guilty of both offences. He was fined £500 for each offence, and ordered to pay prosecution costs of £2,081 and a victim surcharge of £120.

The council set up its Rogue Landlords scheme in 2013. Since then more than a thousand properties have been inspected, and hundreds of landlords ordered to make improvements where poor standards and dangers to tenants have been found.

Cllr Jackie Smith, the council's cabinet member for community safety and environment, said:

"Improving the quality of private rented homes and protecting tenants from greedy and exploitative landlords is at the heart of our Rogue Landlord scheme. We will push for the strongest possible action to protect private tenants and ensure they have somewhere to live that is safe and properly managed. Tenants must also feel that they can raise issues with their landlords without the fear of losing their home.

"We know that the majority of private landlords are professionals and offer decent rented accommodation. The team is always happy to offer advice to landlords on how they can meet their legal responsibilities. We also have a range of measures in place to support responsible landlords including help to bring the quality of their properties up to standard and opportunities to lease their properties to the council to provide safe and secure homes for local families in need.

"I would urge anyone with concerns about the conditions in local private rented properties to contact the team and help us crack-down on those landlords who put their profits before their legal responsibilities and the safety of their tenants."

Crackdown on Blue Badge misuse

by Dick Townsend-Smith

A NEW council campaign to safeguard Blue Badge parking spaces for disabled users has won funding from the government.

It means specially-appointed investigating officers can tighten up on drivers suspected of misusing the scheme.

There are currently more than 7,000 Blue Badge holders in the borough. They help disabled people park closer to where they want to go, either as a driver or a passenger. Badges need to be displayed if the disabled person is travelling in the vehicle either as a driver or passenger, or if someone is collecting or dropping off a disabled passenger and needs to park where they are being met. But some motorists misuse blue badges, and the council wants to crack down on them.

The investigating officers will work closely with the police, the Mobility Team, parking attendants and other council enforcement officers to investigate reports of Blue Badge fraud.

Badges can also be used by able-bodied drivers and carers who are collecting someone with a disability, so it could appear that badge misuse is happening, but in fact there is a legitimate need for the badge to be used. People are being asked to bear this in mind, and simply pass on their concerns to the investigating team.

Cllr Danny Thorpe, the council's cabinet member for regeneration and transport, said: "This is a sensitive issue as often people may think a Blue Badge fraud is taking place when there's an entirely legitimate reason for a person using disabled parking. However, we're also aware that there are a minority of people who unfortunately do abuse the system – which is there to make sure people with a genuine need can park as easily and conveniently as possible. We obviously want to do our utmost to support disabled residents so this is why we are clamping down on any Blue Badge misuse – to make sure genuine blue badge holders are protected.

So please do contact our teams if you do think someone is misusing a blue badge."

Anyone found to be offending will face a Penalty Charge Notice and could face prosecution. In some cases, vehicles will be towed away.

● If you suspect someone of misusing a Blue Badge call 0800 169 6975 or email blue-badge-fraud@royalgreenwich.gov.uk Any information you give will be handled sensitively and treated in confidence. Disabled residents who want to apply for a Blue Badge can find more information here at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/bluebadge

Shaking up Shakespeare

PUPILS at Meridian Primary in Greenwich from nursery level to Year 6 have been immersed in the school's tenth annual arts festival in the last few weeks. This time around pupils have studied Shakespeare's 'The Tempest' exploring the story through drama, art and writing. Pupils worked together to produce beautiful paintings and books full of letters pretending to be different characters writing to each other. The children also got the chance to visit an art gallery and be inspired by artists from Vincent Van Gogh to Emily Carr. Headteacher Jo Graham told GT: "High expectations make a difference and produce great results. We knew that we could make Shakespeare accessible, fun and inspiring from nursery to Year 6 by teaching it in a creative and cross-curricular way." Leah, aged 11 said: "I enjoyed being able to express myself in both the writing and painting. Using Shakespearean language meant you could be more dramatic in your writing. It was great to see how everyone in the school interpreted the same story in different ways." Siraj, 9 agreed with Candace, 8 who said: "We enjoyed learning about

WORDS & PICTURES: pupils show off their giant illustrations and books about the Bard I-r Nola, Ana, Hrishi, Siraj, front, Terry, Lyla Rae and Candace composition, colour mixing and using lines to create shapes in our paintings just like Vincent Van Gogh." Ana, 9 said: "It was more challenging to write in the style of Shakespeare but when we did, it was like going back in time!"

Millennium's 'outstanding' leap forward

MILLENNIUM Primary School on the Greenwich Peninsula is celebrating after being ranked as 'outstanding', just two years after inspectors from the education watchdog Ofsted judged it as 'requiring improvement'.

The news means that more than nine out of every ten primary schools are now officially 'good' or better – the best ever overall performance by the borough's schools.

The school, in John Harrison Way, was visited by a team of Ofsted inspectors for two days in May. They gave top marks for pupils' achievement, their behaviour, the quality of teaching, and how the school is led and managed.

They said: "The highly-effective and exceptional leadership and vision of the executive headteacher, head of school and governing body have brought about significant improvements in the quality of teaching, pupils' achievement and their behaviour since the previous inspection, so that these are now outstanding."

They added: "Leaders at all levels are committed and passionate about teaching and learning. They have worked as a team to ensure that all pupils achieve their best, including those who have disabilities and special educational needs, and those who are disadvantaged or vulnerable.

"Teaching is never less than good and much is outstanding. Teachers motivate their pupils and enable them to make excellent progress by ensuring exciting and well-structured learning opportunities, having consistently high expectations and providing good quality feedback. The curriculum is outstanding and is designed by the school's leaders to ensure that pupils are inspired and enthused to develop a love of learning."

The inspectors sat in on 20 lessons, visited the school's breakfast club and held meetings with pupils, staff and governors. They also took account of parents' views and responses to a staff questionnaire. They said: "The executive headteacher and head of school are highly ambitious for the school. They have embedded a culture of high expectation and a relentless drive for improvement among the school community and have earned the overwhelming respect and support of staff, pupils and parents."

Executive headteacher Nick

Osborne said: "We know something truly exceptional and exciting is happening here at Millennium and we could not be happier to have that validated by an 'outstanding' Ofsted inspection. We are so proud of our team of passionately-dedicated teachers and staff, and of course the remarkable students whose thirst for learning is what drives us all every day."

Cllr John Fahy, the council's cabinet member for children's services, said: "Congratulations to all staff and pupils for this excellent achievement. Everyone has worked hard to achieve this turnaround."

WHEEL DEAL: Cllr Danny Thorpe gets help to test out a car club vehicle

City car club now motoring along

RESIDENTS can get all the benefits of using a car without the cost and hassle of owning one thanks to the royal borough's car club service. A recent expansion of the scheme will see more car club bays than ever and means it's even more convenient for residents to sign up and hire cars or vans.

The council is encouraging local people to consider joining the car club, which is operated by City Car Club. And to make the deal even sweeter, the company are offering a year's free membership and £10 drive time to the first 500 local residents to sign up via their website.

Vehicles are parked at specially marked bays close to residential areas and available for members to hire when they want.

There are now more than 40 car club vehicles available for members at locations across the borough and operators plan to provide a number of new vehicles in the coming months.

Other car club vehicles are available with Zipcar, the other car club operator in the royal borough. Residents who are already members of Zipcar can enjoy up to three years' free membership with City Car Club.

Cllr Danny Thorpe, royal borough's cabinet member for regeneration and transport said: "We were one of the first boroughs to offer a car sharing service and we want to continue to encourage as much uptake as possible."

"Joining a car club is a great way of saving on the costs of car ownership and is more environmentally friendly. People can almost always book a car when they need one and our expansion will mean even better choice and availability."

"Car clubs form an important strand of our efforts to encourage people to look at the whole range of transport options open to them – be it walking, cycling, using public transport, or when needing to use a car, considering a car club. There are huge benefits to being in a car club so I urge residents to consider whether it would work for them."

Benefits fraudster jailed for 16 months

A WOOLWICH man has been jailed for 16 months after committing £52,000 worth of benefit fraud, after a successful investigation by the council's anti-fraud team.

Abdelilah Mennani, 50, formerly of Archway Court, was sentenced at Woolwich Crown Court after pleading guilty to 20 offences at an earlier hearing.

The court heard that in April 2000, Mennani using the name Frederico Zilio and claiming to be an Italian national, got the tenancy of a one-bedroom council flat in Middle Park Avenue, Eltham. He also used his false identity to claim Job Seekers' Allowance, and housing and council tax benefit from the council. He went to the Jobcentre every two weeks to sign-on. In total he received £26,559 housing benefit, £6,250 in council tax benefit and £19,917 in Job Seekers' Allowance.

In 2013 the Royal Borough of Greenwich discovered that Zilio was really Mennani and that he was subletting his council flat while living with his wife and children at another address at Woolwich Dockyard.

Council officers went to his Middle Park Avenue address in February last year where he identified himself as Mr Zilio and stated that he lived at the address on his own. Police were waiting outside, and arrested him. A search discovered documents in the names of both Mennani and Zilio, with both showing the same photo. His true home address in Archway

Court was also searched and documents in his false identity of Mr Zilio were seized, together with £1,000 in cash.

It was also found that he had £1,100 in a UK bank account held in the name of Mr Zilio, and £6,000 held in a Moroccan bank account held in the name of Mr Mennani. Using the Proceeds of Crime Act, the council's financial investigators obtained an order from Woolwich Crown Court to freeze his assets.

Mennani agreed to surrender the £1,100 he held in a bank account in the name of Zilio but refused to surrender the £1,000 in cash found at his family home. The cash will now be subject to a forfeiture process. Sentencing Mennani, His Honour Judge Raynor ordered him to pay £8,000 in compensation to the council within six months.

Cllr Maureen O' Mara, the cabinet member for customer services and IT, said: "This was benefit fraud on a massive scale, and Mennani is now paying for it with a custodial sentence. We will not hesitate to prosecute anyone who makes money from depriving a needy person of a home."

The council has now recovered the flat in Middle Park Avenue and given it to a person in genuine need. The council and the Department of Work and Pensions are also pressing to get back the £52,727 that Mennani claimed fraudulently.

● If you suspect someone is defrauding the council call 0800 169 6975 or email the.fraud@royalgreenwich.gov.uk. All information will be treated in confidence.

Festival

Food firms and traders dish up a treat

THE Greenwich Film Festival is not just a great opportunity to watch excellent movies on the big screen - it's a chance to sample some top culinary delights from the best local food traders as well.

The festival, called From Greenwich with Love, brings UK and international cinema to the royal borough from June 19-21. It will also include a mix of delicious foods from local food producers.

They include Made in Greenwich, which creates homemade t a k e a w a y s from healthy ingredients, and Mishmish Arabic & Mediterranean Street Food.

Founded last May, Mishmash started as a venture offering street food in local markets.

The outlet offers a range of fresh food - from fragrant tagines served with mounds of couscous to salads and zingy relishes, with vegetarians and vegans also well catered for.

Its street food is a hit at artisan markets and festivals and there will be a full range of street snacks and Moroccan bubble tea on offer over the weekend.

Owner Simon Dolega-Ossowski told GT: "My hot food is freshly prepared during the wee hours of the day and reconstructed on site. As a local I feel I know my community. Getting regular feedback from our customers helps us to improve our dishes, and deliver what people really want, and yet at the same time introducing them to new food experiences."

THE Mayor Cllr Norman Adams was in General Gordon Square, Woolwich, on June 1 to officially launch Volunteers' Week in Greenwich - which showcased the wide range of volunteering opportunities open to local residents.

Volunteer Centre Greenwich (VCG) was joined by 10 other organisations running stalls promoting opportunities to residents as part of Volunteers Week, which celebrated the contribution made by millions of volunteers on a national level.

Representatives from the centre were out-and-about promoting their message, including a successful day speaking to local people at ASDA in Charlton.

Last Thursday (June 4) also saw the launch of Recognition 100, a scheme sponsored by the royal borough and the New Leaf Centre. The scheme recognises the many hours put in by volunteers and their contribution to local causes. The Mayor handed out certificates to 22 volunteers who have given over 100 hours of their time volunteering in the royal borough.

Volunteers were nominated by the organisations that they dedicate time to including Severndroog Castle, the Friends of the Tarn, the Friends of Fairy Hill Park, Charlton Triangle Homes, Greenwich Volunteer Police Cadets, Thamesmead Christian Fellowship and Greenwich Housing Rights.

Cllr Norman Adams told GT: "This week has been about celebrating the role our volunteers play and helping new people engage with volunteering opportunities."

"There are few things more rewarding than becoming a volunteer and dedicating your time to a worthy cause. It has a meaningful, positive impact on the local community as well - I encourage everyone to think about doing something as worthwhile as volunteering."

Michelle Martin, chief executive of Volunteer Centre Greenwich said: "VCG is passionate about the benefits that volunteering can bring, not only to the volunteer but to the local community. Volunteers' Week is an opportunity to recruit new volunteers and recognise and reward existing ones who provide valuable support to a varied range of organisations and services that support the local people in the royal borough."

● Visit www.vcgreenwich.org.uk for more information about Volunteer Centre Greenwich and volunteering opportunities across the royal borough.

Walking the walk for charity

THE WHEELS on the Big Red Bus go round and round... thanks to local charity supporters who've been raising funds for four decades.

The 40-year-old Royal Greenwich Lions Club is raising money for the Big Red Bus Club as part of its charitable work and fundraising. The bus provides free stay and play sessions for children under five and their families from 12.30 pm to 3pm every weekday in Charlton Park.

And last week fundraisers went on a sponsored walk so the bus can continue to rove around town.

The Mayor Cllr Norman Adams joined volunteers and families for the walk at Charlton Park and continued down along the River Thames. It was organised by the Royal Greenwich Lions Club, which belongs to an international association of organisations that raise money for good causes across the world.

Parmjit Khalley, incoming president of the Lions told GT: "With 40 years of experience in the local community, it is a pleasure to support the Big Red Bus Club, an organisation for young families."

Annie Keys chair and founder of the Big Red Bus Club, said: "We rely on the donations and support of local people to stay open, and we are staffed entirely by volunteers. I know from personal experience that it is important for children to have access to safe outdoor space in order to grow and develop, and for families to meet and make new friends. The help and support of Royal Greenwich Lions means we will be able to stay open."

STEP FORWARD: families ready to put their best foot forward for the cause

Jewellery snatched in two burglaries

by Dick Townsend-Smith

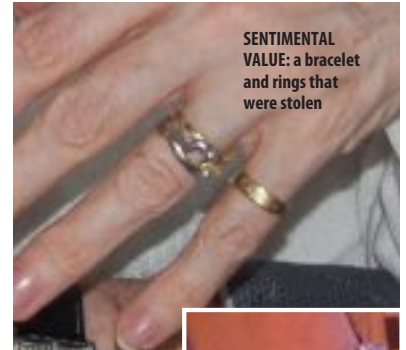

BURGLARS took jewellery worth a total of £3,500 from two homes in Eltham in raids on consecutive afternoons.

A Breitling Callistino watch valued at £2,000 was part of a haul worth more than £3,000 taken from a home in Glenhouse Road between 12.30pm and 2.20pm on Tuesday, May 19.

The following day a home in Strongbow Crescent was burgled between 1pm and 3pm, when jewellery worth more than £500 was taken, including a gold watch with a brown leather strap of sentimental value to the victim.

Det Con Andrew Payne from Greenwich Burglary Squad said: "If you have any information, however small, or noticed anything suspicious in or around Glenhouse Road or Strongbow Crescent, please get in touch with us. Some of the watches stolen are very distinctive, and have significant sentimental value. If you have come in possession of any of this jewellery or know someone who has, please get in touch. We will treat all information in the strictest confidence."

The news comes at a time when there has been a 6.8 per cent fall in domestic

ROYAL BOROUGH OF GREENWICH

Caring for the carers

In the royal borough, it is estimated that around 22,500 people currently act as unpaid carers for friends or family members. A brand new centre was officially opened on June 12 to provide a place where carers can meet up, unwind and relax. Expert help and advice is on offer, plus the reassurance that carers are not alone. DICK TOWNSEND-SMITH reports

MORE than 200 carers went along for the official opening of the new council-funded Carers' Centre on Friday (June 12) to see for themselves the services and facilities on offer.

These include a spa, a film lounge, a courtyard bistro and snug where they can relax.

Staff are on hand to give practical advice and support, and carers can drop in for just a short time or stay for the whole day. They have access to therapy sessions, coach trips, and entertainments. There is also an advice shop at the new centre offering information on a range of issues from specialist services.

The centre is based at the newly-renovated Stables near Charlton

House in Hornfair Road. All facilities are accessible for wheelchair users. There is a lift to the upstairs activity rooms, and wide corridors and doorways.

Friday's opening ceremony was led by the Mayor, Cllr Norman Adams. He was joined by Cllr John Fahy, the council's deputy leader, and Cllr David Gardner, the council's cabinet member for health and social care, to release 24 balloons, one for each year the in Greenwich has been running. This was followed by lunch and a tour of the new facility.

The opening was the climax to Carers' Week, when activities took place across the borough. They were planned by the council in partnership with the Carers' Centre, and included a carers' roadshow, which toured venues such as supermarket car parks, Passey Place in Eltham, General Gordon Square in Woolwich, and Glyndon Community Centre in Plumstead. There was also a picnic for carers at Blackheath hosted by Greenwich Mencap.

The theme this year was 'Building Carer-Friendly Communities', and was aimed at anyone who supports or cares for someone who is older and frail or who has a disability, physical or mental health problem or problems with drugs or alcohol.

Cllr Gardner said: "Carers play a vital role, both in their families and in their community, and the partnership between the royal borough, local health services and Greenwich Carers' Centre has helped ensure a very strong level of support for carers in the borough. This can be seen both in the events offered for National Carers' Week, and also in the fantastic new facilities available at the Carers' Centre. I would encourage local carers to find out more about the support and services that are available for carers throughout the year."

Sue Mitchell, chair of Greenwich Carers' Centre, said: "We are delighted that we have been able to deliver a brand-new facility for local carers. Having taken on board many of their suggestions and requests from the past 20 years we hope that as many carers as possible will visit to see what is available. Caring can be rewarding but at times it can be an isolating experience. Our message to carers is to remember that there is help and support available as well as a space to just take time out and relax."

What the carers say

Stanley Goddard, a retired builder from Charlton, who cares for his wife said: "The facilities are fantastic here and the food is first class. It is very accommodating and has changed our lives – we come here every day and get a free meal. The event here this afternoon was also very enjoyable. I was also commissioned to do a piece of artwork here – it's an abstract designed to bolster the services and advertise the massage service."

Wendy Barrington is a volunteer at the Stables and a full-time carer for her daughter. The Charlton mum said: "I help out at the bistro here. The facilities are really nice. As a local carer the Stables is a real bonus – and as a volunteer, I can offer a wide variety of help – from cleaning to helping people to the treatment room or offering someone a bit of company. As a carer it feels like you are in your own supportive community and you can rely on the service to help with the load."

Anne Freeman, a carer for her sister, said: "This is one of the best things Greenwich has done. We use the place every Wednesday and look forward to everything on offer especially the music nights. Everyone is lovely here – many of us have done a training course so it's a meeting point for us after that ended. From the day I walked in here I felt so welcome."

SCREEN ON THE GREEN: film fans enjoy an outdoor film show

Movies on the move

IT'S fun, it's outdoors and it's guaranteed entertainment, pop-up cinema has really arrived.

Although outdoor cinema had its origins in Germany more than a century ago, the process is still broadly the same. Turn up around 8pm with something to sit on and a blanket in case it gets cold and sit back and relax with family or friends in the fresh air with a cold glass of wine. The technology has improved though with digital projectors and awesome surround-sound and screens that don't bend with the breeze.

As we roll into summer, pop-ups will inflate across various parts of the borough. Screens flicker in July on the Greenwich Peninsula with screenings of Labyrinth, Big and 10 Things I Hate About You. The beautiful parklands of Tudor Barn, Eltham will play host to the August offering - Mamma Mia, Ghost and The Shining - and finally in September the gardens of East Greenwich Pleasance will revive Ghostbusters and that old favourite, ET. Tickets are available online and at £10 per person seem a bargain. With food drink and popcorn on sale each evening. But Pop-Ups are not all that's on offer in Greenwich with the borough's own Film Festival running from June 19-21. An integral part of the Royal Greenwich Festivals, there'll be films from directors new and old. So get on the websites and start booking tickets to enjoy a fistful of movies this summer.

CLASH OF STICKS: the Greenwich Morris Men on Blackheath back in May

Dawn dancers

WHEN the Greenwich Morris Men performed their annual May Day dance at dawn, it was understandably too much of an early start for most people.

But those who missed the 5.15am performance can still experience their colourful dances, designed to encourage the sun to rise, as they will be dancing at local venues over the summer.

"The 1st May is our first 'dance out' after training over the winter. This dance marks the start of the summer and it's about encouraging the sun to rise," explained the Squire Colin Edean.

They dance traditional Morris dances mainly from the Cotswold area to the accompaniment of concertinas, melodeons and accordions and dancing on Blackheath is a tradition of some 40 years for them.

"Bewildered long distance lorry drivers heading to Dover on the A2 slow to stare and coming the other way, bleary-eyed commuters heading towards the City toot their horns and flash their lights in excitement. Of course, the Morris men ignore all of this and remain focused on this very serious matter," enthused Colin.

After the dawn dance, the group mainly performs outside pubs and community events as far afield as North West Kent.

There have been recent evening performances at Cutty Sark Gardens and the summer programme continues this month at locations across the royal borough.

They'll be performing tomorrow (Wednesday June 17) - from 8pm in Cutty Sark Gardens with the Tower Ravens Morris & Motely Morris sides

● Sunday June 28 - between 3pm and 4pm at the Shrewsbury Park summer festival and on ● Sunday July 5 - From 11.30am in Cyttus Sark Gardens and then the Cutty Sark Pub with four other teams at their annual 'At Home'.

The Morris dance season continues until September. The group practices over the winter months on Thursdays at the Mycenae House in Mycenae Road, Blackheath. "We start at 8pm and then continue in the bar upstairs from about 10 pm. We are a small very friendly side who would welcome new members - dancers or musicians. No previous experience is necessary and all tuition is freely provided," Colin explained.

BIDDING FOR PROPERTIES

People on the Housing register are able to bid for all properties, regardless of their banding. You must be eligible for the size of property and bids will be considered in the following order:

First Band A, followed by Band B both in priority date order.

Small is beautiful the Under Occupation scheme

If you are living in a Council property that is too big for you, we can help you to move to somewhere smaller.

The Council will pay your removal costs, and £350 for each bedroom gained.

To join the scheme you must be willing to move to a home with two bedrooms less than you have now:

- 3 bedroom to a 1 bedroom home
- 3 bedroom parlour/4 bedroom to a 1 or 2 bedroom home
- 5 bedroom to a 3 bedroom (or smaller) home

IMPORTANT NOTICE FOR ROYAL BOROUGH TENANTS WHO ARE MOVING

DON'T GET A BILL AFTER YOU LEAVE

Under the conditions of your tenancy agreement, you have a responsibility to leave your property in an acceptable state of repair. We may visit you to check this. If we consider your property is in an unacceptable condition, you may be prevented from moving or be recharged for work.

To avoid getting an unwelcome bill, follow these rules:

- Repair any damage caused to the property by you, your family or visitors to your home.
- Make good any changes you have made to your property e.g. put back any doors that you have removed.
- Make sure your garden is not overgrown and you have cleared all garden waste.
- Clear all your items from the inside and the outside of the property. This includes any loft space, external cupboards or sheds.
- Return all the keys to the Royal Borough's offices no later than midday on Monday (or Tuesday if it is a Bank Holiday). You will be charged a further week's rent if you do not return your keys on time.

If you leave repairs that are your responsibility, or items that require disposal you will be charged the cost of this work.

Special Collection Service

The Royal Borough offers a Special Collection Service for tenants who are moving and want to dispose of something big and bulky, like a sofa or a fridge, and even unwanted clothes and other textiles.

Simply contact Waste Services on 020 8921 4661 and tell them where you live and what you would like taken away.

Items we will collect include:

Fridges, freezers, washing machines, beds, sofas, clothes and carpets (carpets must be cut up and tied into manageable bundles that one person can carry).

Items we DO NOT collect include:

Fitted kitchens, bathroom suites, boilers, sheds, fences and rubble.

For further information, please contact Waste Services on 020 8921 4661.

Please leave your home in a good condition!

Royal Borough of Greenwich's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

IMPORTANT POLICY INFORMATION FOR THOSE AWARDED PRIORITY

When a priority is awarded, you will receive one offer of accommodation.

The following rules are used to allocate properties to applicants in Bands A, B and C, to make sure the Council makes best use of housing stock to meet needs.

- Two children (whatever gender) under 10 years old can share a bedroom
- Two children (same gender) under 16 years old can share a bedroom
- Two children of opposite gender where at least one is 10 years old or over need a bedroom each
- Each person over 16 years old needs their own bedroom
- A couple and lone parents need one bedroom
- Expected babies are counted as a person from the six month of pregnancy
- Band C applicants - Houses are allocated to a household with children (aged 15 or under)

Only RBG tenants who currently occupy houses in bands A and B, will be considered for rehousing to another house. All other priority applicants will be considered for flats or maisonettes.

Note: There are separate Allocations Policies for applicants with priority from regeneration areas.

Like for Like Moves

Council tenants housed through priority Bands A & B, are generally offered a similar type of property to that they currently occupy, of the size they require. This is because rehousing is being offered to meet safety or other needs, rather than to provide more desirable housing. Tenants, who want to move to improve the quality of their accommodation, must do so through Band C, where applicants are housed in date order.

For full details on our policies, please see the Allocations Scheme which is available on the Royal Borough of Greenwich website

by Zach Emmanuel

TWO teams of young athletes have clinched silver medals in water sports at London Youth Games.

The first group won the award on June 4 for its performance in the ParaGames swimming gala at Beckenham Spa. The second group won its medal just three days later for rowing at the Thames Water Regatta.

Jill Beager, Greenwich team manager, said: "It is so amazing, I teach mainstream and disabled. But these are the heroes they've struggled and battled. They're the ones who do it, we're the ones who scream and shout and wave our arms about. I'm so proud of them all."

"I think once they became a team, then it all came together and they've got friends for life now, and that's what it's all about." Rowing team manager, Peter Smith, described it as a "wonderful day" but added that work has already begun in preparation for next year: "We have a good team and at the stage, at the age group where they can come back next year. So we'll certainly be competing for the gold medal next year."

"We're straight back into training. We're racing at Marlow Town Regatta next week. We were at Peterborough last week where we picked up 14 medals over the two-day regatta. We're a very pro-active club."
